

“...visually stunning new film...
With impressive acting performances and skillful direction talent.
- Cinesource magazine”

“Contractor’s Routine” depicts one day in the life of Jacob Borschevsky, who although seemingly harmless, is a rather quirky human being. Lacking essential social skills, Borschevsky has cultivated a rich fantasy life complete with a mentoring alter ego, Esau, who is available at his beck and call. He labors to keep Jacob on a righteous path, but Jacob’s puzzling personality disorder seems too strong to be deterred.

The daily frustrations of the human condition are exaggerated in Jacob’s lonely inner world...and over time, they begin to overtake him. When he starts to act out his rage, it is left to the audience to decide – will Jacob’s mentor be powerful enough to stop his inner turbulence from spilling over into the real world?

Conflict is central to “Contractor’s Routine:” art versus science, addiction versus habit, fantasy versus reality and civility versus violence resonate throughout the film. The film’s director, Russian-born Yuri Tsapayev, delves masterfully into subconscious shadows and challenges society’s accepted truths.

FOR SALES INFORMATION CONTACT
YURI TSAPAYEV
Phone: 415.572.3932
indieknight@gmail.com

English | 90 minutes | Digital or 35mm | USA | Thriller | 2010

PARALUX
productions

www.ContractorsRoutine.com